

ORDERS TURKS TO HOLD RUSS AT ANY COST

Kaiser Said to Have Sent Message That Advance of Enemy Must be Checked. Are Nearing Diarbekr.

PETROGRAD PLACES LOSSES AT 100,000

Quarter of Million Men With Enormous Quantities of Artillery Are Available to Guard Duke.

International News Service:

PETROGRAD, Feb. 21.—Driving the Turkish rear guards before them with heavy losses, one of the Caucasian armies of Grand Duke Nicholas is advancing rapidly toward Diarbekr on the Tigris river.

Diarbekr is only 50 miles from the Constantinople-Bagdad railway, the only line of communication for the Turkish army in Mesopotamia.

Turkish losses in the past two weeks fighting with the Russians are said to be nearly 100,000 men in killed, wounded and missing.

The Kaiser is reported to have sent an imperative message to Field Marshal von der Goltz, the chief German military adviser of the Turkish army, that the advance of the Russians must be checked at any cost.

Part of the Russian army of invasion in northern Armenia is advancing against Trebizond, meanwhile meeting with but feeble resistance from the Turks.

The Turkish forces are suffering from lack of food and ammunition. Will Protect Capital.

It is reported on excellent authority that a big German force is being massed east of Constantinople for the protection of the Turkish capital.

The menace of the Russian invasion of Turkey is more dangerous than at any other time during the course of the war. Approximately 250,000 Russians have been poured through the passes of the Caucasian mountains supported by enormous quantities of artillery.

Grand Duke Nicholas will probably move the Russian headquarters from Tiflis to Erzerum.

Along the Black sea littoral Russian warships are bombarding Turkish towns.

It is expected that the present week will see the conquest of practically all of Armenia by the Russians. The next step in the campaign will be a decisive cooperative campaign with the British forces in Mesopotamia to cut off the Turkish soldiers in the Persian gulf sphere of operation.

PARIS, Feb. 21.—Lunéville, Dombsie and Nancy have been attacked by German aviators, the French war office report says today.

Weak artillery action is reported from the greater part of the front. In Artois two German attacks were launched against the allied positions northwest of Hill No. 140, but both were repulsed.

The text of the communique follows:

"There have been weak actions by the artillery on both sides along the whole front except north of Verdun where there was a certain amount of activity."

"In Artois to the northwest of Hill No. 140, the enemy attempted without success, two local attacks with hand grenades."

"A squadron of five French aeroplanes bombarded the ammunition depots of the enemy at Crateau Martincourt and Azoudange, respectively, southwest and southeast of Dieuse."

"German aviators during the night threw some projectiles on Lunéville, Dombsie and Nancy, but the damage was small."

Monument May Be Moved to Site Near River

A proposal to change the Soldiers' and Sailors' monument from its present location on the south side of the court house to a little south of the foot of Wayne st. was presented to the county commissioners Monday morning by a delegation from Auten Post No. 8, G. A. R. The committee consisted of William Ritter, John Steele and Horace Martin. Because of the erection of the Farmers' Security building adjacent to the court house, the old soldiers are of the belief that the monument is partially hidden.

The property along the river bank at the foot of Wayne st. belongs to the city. The petition Monday was made orally and was tabled by the commissioners pending an investigation of the G. A. R. committee for favorable sites.

ACTION OF BOARD TO BE CONSIDERED

Meeting of Business Men and Teachers Will be Held Wednesday Night.

The first definite action on the part of the public and school teachers in regard to the ousting of L. J. Montgomery as superintendent of schools will be taken Wednesday night when a committee of business men will meet with several teachers and principals at the Chamber of Commerce to discuss the affair. The aim will be to determine upon some means of getting the real reasons of the board for refusing to renew Mr. Montgomery's contract.

It is probable that the men will discuss the proposition of asking the mayor to take some action in the matter. The suggestion of C. L. Granger, 118 Pennsylvania av., that the Rotary and Press clubs and the Chamber of Commerce appoint committees to interview the mayor and the school board will be taken up.

Special meetings of the three organizations mentioned by Mr. Granger as the ones that should take action probably would be necessary to have these committees appointed.

A meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce is scheduled for Thursday night. The regular meeting of the Rotary club will not be held this week on account of the eighth district conference here Tuesday and the Press club will not have a regular session for two weeks.

Less agitation among the teachers has been going on for the past two days than during the early part of last week when the school board took its unpopular action.

As soon as something definite is decided upon by the business men who will attend this meeting, a special session of the teachers, which has been talked of since last Tuesday, probably will be held.

The talk of a strike has practically died out and there is little possibility of any action of this kind even if the board or the mayor should refuse to do anything.

FATHER TELLS OF HUNT FOR BODY OF GIRL

Frank Lambert Witness at Inquest—Called Up Orpet's Father When Daughter Failed to Return Home.

SAYS DAUGHTER KNEW WHERE HE KEPT POISON

Josephine Davis, Chum of the Dead Girl, Not Called. No Signs of Struggle, Says Parent.

International News Service:

CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—The trail of snowy footprints leading out of Marian Lambert's jolly school girl life to the dreary death beneath the "three trees" in Helm's woods was followed step by step today when Coroner Taylor and his jury opened the inquest into the death of the girl, with which Will Orpet, university of Wisconsin student, stands charged.

No detail was spared. The father, Frank Lambert, told how he had found the footprints and how they had led to the discovery of the body; of his daughter's fine spirits the night before the tragedy; of how he had called up Orpet's father in Madison when the girl was reported missing, and was told that the boy was in Madison, and of how he summoned his neighbor, William Marshall, to aid him in the search.

Foreman King of the jury interrupted to ask the relations between Marian and Orpet. The father replied that their relations were "well known." They were permitted to go together openly, so that they would not do so secretly, he said.

Lambert admitted that he kept cyanide of potassium stored in his home for spraying purposes on the estate and that his daughter often came to the greenhouse for bouquets and that she was familiar with the greenhouses and probably knew where the poison was stored.

One point that came out of Mr. Marshall's testimony when he took the stand was the fact that the girl's right hand was bare and her left gloved. There was no sign of a struggle, Marshall testified, where the body was found.

Considerable comment was aroused by the fact that Miss Josephine Davis, chum of the dead girl, was not subpoenaed for the inquest. Miss Davis was believed to have known more of Marian Lambert's habits and thoughts than anyone else.

HOUSE ASKED TO VOTE TWO MORE BILLION

Money Thus Secured Will Run the British Government Until June—Is Divided Into Two Parts.

WAR NOW IS COSTING 750,000,000 A MONTH

First Step in Campaign For Economy Has Been to Close Several Public Museums.

International News Service:

LONDON, Feb. 21.—Premier Asquith in the house of commons this afternoon moved a vote of credit for $2,100,000,000 with which to carry on the war. The credit is in two parts, the main sum being $1,500,000,000 and the residue $600,000,000, a supplementary credit.

This is the biggest vote of credit ever moved in the history of the house of commons.

The money thus secured will run the government until about the end of May.

Between April 1, 1915, and last Saturday, the total credits voted by commons were $5,350,000,000.

The staggering sums demanded for the conduct of the war are piling up the national debt to unprecedented figures and grave warnings are being issued by statesmen, who fear the post war burden of taxes.

It is estimated that the war is costing England more than $750,000,000 a month with no prospect of a reduction in sight.

The first step in the government's campaign for economy has been to close many of the public museums which have hitherto been supported by the national treasury.

The suggestion has also been made that exchequer bonds, which have been issued in small amounts, be used as currency in place of money.

Want Government to Lead in Battle Against Tuberculosis

Participation of the federal government through the United States public health service in the study and control of tuberculosis is urged by a resolution adopted by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, made public today.

The national association proposes that by act of congress a special division of tuberculosis be established in the United States public health service with an adequate appropriation. This division should be manned by experts and should study the tuberculosis problem from every point of view and should, so far as possible, set up standards for the treatment and prevention of the disease throughout the country.

A bill introduced by Congressman Kent of California in the house and by Sen. Norris of Nebraska in the senate provides for some of the things which the national association asks for and also for a federal subsidy to hospitals caring for non-resident consumptives.

Commenting on the resolution, Dr. Charles J. Hartfield, executive secretary of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis is costing the United States from $500,000,000 to $100,000,000 every year in lives lost, the amount of money being spent annually by all private and public agencies is not much more than $20,000,000; and while a nation-wide crusade to stamp out tuberculosis has been organized, we are still ignorant of many of the factors that produce it.

A few thousand dollars wisely spent in scientific research under federal supervision will secure results of incalculable benefit to this country.

LONG, FAST SHIPS TO BATTLE SUBS

New Type of Vessel is Expected to be Added to the United States Navy.

International News Service: WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—An entirely new type of ship, so far as the United States navy is concerned, probably will be included in the building program to be authorized by congress this year. The vessels now being considered by the naval affairs committees of the house and senate are of light draft, narrow, long, and extremely fast. Their entire utility is the detection and destruction of submarines.

An effort will be made to authorize the construction of 10 of these vessels. The type most favored is about 75 feet in length.

The vessels are to be armed with one or two guns of sufficient range and power to destroy submarines—probably three-inch guns. The fact that these vessels make an extremely poor target for the guns which submarines carry and for torpedoes gives them an advantage not possessed by any present American naval vessel. Their speed and offensive armaments, experts declare, will enable them to approach and destroy a submarine sighted on the surface, even at a considerable distance, before it is able to submerge.

Members of the house naval affairs committee have been informed that a huge number of vessels of this type are now in use in the British navy.

SUB QUESTION IS LIKELY TO CAUSE BREAK

Confidential Advice Received From Berlin Say Germany Will Refuse to Modify Plan of Campaign.

MATTER WILL BE PUT UP TO UNITED STATES

New Violation of American Rights Would Cause Trouble—Appam Case is Still Pending.

International News Service:

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—The submarine controversy between the United States and the central powers is approaching a deadlock. Confidential advice received here from Berlin say that Germany will refuse to modify her new plan of campaign. She will sink all armed merchant vessels without warning with the exception of the big passenger liners.

A memorandum to this effect amplifying the preliminary notice is understood to have been completed in the Berlin foreign office and it will be communicated to the United States either through Ambassador Gerard or Ambassador von Bernstorff this week.

Up to United States.

This will put the matter squarely up to the United States. It is not expected that any further action will be taken so long as American rights are not abridged. But should Americans be placed in jeopardy or lose their lives when the new campaign goes into effect, immediate action by this government will be forced. Officials make no effort to disguise the seriousness of the aspect. But they insist that future developments will depend on how Germany proceeds with her new campaign. Austria has not had time to reply to the representations made to her that the proposed new campaign is a violation of pledges already made to this government, but this does not change the situation inasmuch as Austria will follow the lead of Germany.

Officials were very careful today to point out that any action that this government shall take of a radical nature will be predicated on a new violation of American rights.

No More Concessions.
